Access to campus amenities: weight room, pool, high ropes course, large indoor gym, game room, Wi-Fi (add'l expense), & plenty of backcountry hiking trails in the SoCal mountains.

Salary: $375 to $395 /week

Duties:

- Instruct & lead your Trail Group over 4 days and 3 nights of fun-filled camp activities, science courses, and hands-on exploration of the San Bernardino National Forest
- Create your own lesson plans that combine science curriculum with inspiration as you bring classroom lessons to life through hands-on learning!
- Lead meals, all-camp games, skit nights, campfire nights and other camp-favorite activities
- Instruct & participate with students in archery, rockwall, zipline, & canoeing
- Promote fun & discipline to ensure a world-class experience for all of our young guests
- Help camp stay in tip-top shape & gain useful experience by serving in other camp departments too: Hospitality (prepping cabins & grounds for the next group), Kitchen Team (food prep, serving, dish-room), & Maintenance (building projects, landscaping, painting)

Qualified Applicants will have:

- A high school diploma
- A valid driver's license (required if your duties require vehicle operation)
- A BS/BA/AA or higher in the field of life science, biological science, physical science, parks & recreation, or equivalent combination of education & experience (highly preferred)
- A personal commitment to Jesus Christ as your Lord & Savior, and a desire to work in a ministry dedicated to drawing others to faith in God
- Biblically strong moral character, integrity & adaptability--do you walk the walk or just talk the talk?
- Previous teaching experience, including lesson planning
- Strong leadership, communication, & time management skills
- A habit of taking the initiative & being self-motivated; always ready for more!
- The physical fitness to hike wilderness trails averaging 2-4 miles/day
